

in progress mode

Contents

- 1 Special Issue 25
- 2 Browsing
- 3 MfB
- 4 Queue
- 5 Notes on Personal Reader

Special Issue 25

Problems of Notation
Keywords
Basta Now
Tyranny of Structurelessness
Generous Practices
Thinking Machines
The Laurence Rassel Show
The Death of the Author
The truth of fact, the truth of feeling

Browsing

c is for computer \(new terms and conditions\)

humans were the first computers
 'as the computer got smaller in size, the enormity of the power relations and labor economies that exist in computing were able to be boxed and distributed globally, and through a little black screen'

Its time to retire the term 'user'

history of terminology and intertwindness in tech economy

Dissapearance of an Internet Domain

Survival by Sharing, Paul Soulellis
Keyboard Problem(What Queer typography/ typing?)

N. Katherine Hayles: Writing Machines Oct-Nov 24

Writing and Worlding - Laurel Schwulst (An Essay that I had already read in form of a newsletter almost 2 years ago, I like the way laurel thinks here and consulted with the text again today)^{06/11/24}

A note on the Time – Dexter

^{08/11/24}

Sinister Here for the wrong

^{re-read 10/11/24}

Robida: correspondence-of-code

^{17/11/24}

"When writing responds to physical, social and political qualities of sites, is inserted back into sites, spaces are made out of encounters with readers, and like architecture, texts can inhabit and be inhabited."

in: correspondence-of-code (note: inhabiting technotexts: N. K. Hayles)

Annie Ernaux: Exteriors ^{Nov 24}

Rick Moody: Primary Sources ^{Nov 24}

Meta Bibliography, footnotes, Personal Reader

MfB

most (formative | favorite) books from the past 2 years

- Ways of being – James Bridle
- Feminist, Queer, Crip – Alison Kafer
- Arts of Living on a Damaged Planet
- Staying with the trouble - Donna Haraway
- The Mushroom at the end of the world – Anna Tsing
- Caliban and the Witch – Silvia Federichi
- I'm very into You – Kathy Acker, McKenzie Wark
- Maggie Nelson – The Argonauts
- Autotheory as feminist Practice in Art Writing and Criticism – Lauren Fournier

- Diagrammatic Writing - Johanna Drucker [\[1\]](#)

Queue

from classes

'Do Artifacts have Politics?'(Lidia)

other

Coming to Writing Helene Cixous
The Utopia of Rules David Graber ^{book}
Graphesis - Visual forms of knowledge Production
Johanna Drucker ^{book}
Selvedges/Self-Edges Jane Rendell

Lisa Robertson: Nilling ^{book}

Notes on Personal Reader

build Reader Interface using Are.na API pro: visual and interactive freedom con(?): reader has multiple endpoints, I use Are.na for other things too

use Wiki

maybe wiki table --> api --> to page? (xml) pro: easy to maintain con: boring?, high wiki dependency, no 'individual page'

simple site on cereal box
 html table, ...

general

should be able to embed and open pdf's easily deal with additional annotation/ material way's of chronology, indexing, connecting maybe serve multiple purposes?
 personal reader, also recommendations f. visitors?

Update Nov 6th

use personal reader as research method, object itself into text materiality, annotation and interface