sound jam
_an experiment

dear listener,

This sound jam was the first of a series of facilitated jams, part of our research. As an opening one, we focused on a topic: Deep listening (a concept brought to life by artist Pauline Oliveros). The participants were invited to read together some extracts from her book and to jam while trying to apply listening and paying attention techniques to their performance in the group. The jam was following the structure of a clock while progressing.
